[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN DATES TO SEPT 27

General Military News—No Hope of Peace

LONDON, Sept. 26.—Bismarck says the question of peace is reduced to the possession of Metz and Strasbourg, and he will treat on no other terms.

Fighting all day Friday near Paris is reported from Tours, but accounts are so contradictory that the London press refuse to publish them.

AMIENS, Sept. 26.—The Prefect of this department has issued an address stating there is but one duty of Frenchmen—War to the knife.

LONDON, Sept. 26.—The Prussians are hastening the reconstruction of the fortress of Laon.

BRUSSELS, Sept. 26.—Travellers escaped from Paris state that guns are firing day and night.

It is reported the police of Calais were instructed yesterday to allow no Frenchmen to embark on outward bound vessels whether having passports or not.

... Sept. ...—Favre did not see the King. There is nothing new from Paris.

The headquarters of the Crown Prince of Saxony with the Fourth Army Corps is at Grand Tremblanc, ten miles north of Paris.

TOURS, Sept. 2?.—The garrison at Havre was reinforced and has received a number of mitrailleurs. The place is now prepared to defy any attack.

LONDON, Sept. 26.—All hope of a settlement between Prussia and France is abandoned. The refusal of Bismarck's proposal by France will place that country in a worse position.

LONDON, Sept. 26.—Orleans dispatches say that cavalry encounters are reported at Bareches and Antenau. Prince Albert with a large force is reported at the former place.

TOURS, Sept. 26.—There have been several engagements with the enemy in the open country between Paris and Bev... The results were not serious.

Government denies the statement that Marshal Bazaine had made proposals for surrender.

The Government still fears an armed collision at Lyons. Eighteen Imperial Prefects have resigned to become candidates for the Assembly. Those remaining in office have pledged themselves to co-operate with the Provisional Government.

Cuba

NEW YORK, Sept. 2?.—The idea of ceding Cuba to the United States gains ground in Madrid.

Particulars of the Battle of Pontraz

LONDON, Sept. 26.—A special at Rouen sends to-day the particulars of the action reported from Pontraz. It was an important engagement and resulted in the complete defeat of the Germans. The battle was fought on the line of the Orleans railroad beyond Epernay station, sixteen miles from Paris. A column of 10,000 Prussians advancing from Spence two miles on the plateau of Longumen attacked the French forces, superior in number, but occupying a formidable position above or near Trettle, which commanded the road to Balan, Villers, Cuchet and Isles Charleau. The attack began at 6 A. M. The French forces mainly consisting of Gardes Mobile with a battalion of the line, put six mitrailleurs in position. The French retreated under cover of the wood and drew the Germans on until they were brought into the range of masked batteries which opened on them suddenly with tremendous effect. The Prussian column was cut and the French charged on their flank and drove the fragments in a hurried retreat down a steep and rapid descent beyond the town of Loutchery towards Corbets and Louis. There the Germans attempted to make a stand, and ref... but the French artillery, which had been brought up by a crossroad of the country, here opened on them again with more effect than before. Retreat was converted into rout and the German troops fled in all directions, throwing away their arms. The French captured all their artillery, batteries and cannon, with two regimental standards. Between 600 and ?00 men, who surrendered on the day, were sent next day to Chartres. Among the prisoners are two Colonels of the Prussian line and a number of Saxon officers.

WAR MISCELLANY

A picture in the Charivari represents a Zouave fallen upon a heap of Prussian corpses. "Hit at last," he exclaims, "but I have well made my bed."

The other evening a German band of music was hired to perform at a French Irish meeting in New York. They went and played well enough until requested to perform the Marseillaise, when their proud spirits revolted; they refused and were driven out of the hall by the equally patriotic Irish, which was more audacious than heroic.

A dispatch from Minister Motley, dated London 24th, has been received at the State Department. Motley says that the statement that Prussia refused to treat except with the Regency and intends to reinstate Napoleon as Emperor of France is false. Prussia, he says, objected to recognizing the present Government, not because of the proclamation of a Republic, but on the ground that it is unauthorized, unstable and incapable of giving lasting guarantees.

A clever parody on Victor Hugo's fustian address to the Prussian invaders closes as follows:

"Germans, hold back! Paris is indeed formidable. Think before her walls. It is better than fighting. All transformations are possible to her. Yesterday she was a monkey, to-day she is a man, to-morrow she may be a gorilla. She seems to sleep. 'Tis but the seeming. She is either drunk or playing possum. Her hair will rise like the forest monarchs of Argonnes. Her toothpick will leap from its scabbard like a sword. And his city, which yesterday was Paris, to-morrow may be Pekin or the Pu... Kopolis ... ger."

It is thought that the brunt of the Prussian attack on Paris will fall on the northern section of the works. At St. Denis three great roads converge, and here the armies which are advancing from Soissons, on the Aisne, and Epernay, on the Marne, may re-unite their forces. The three forts known respectively as the Double Couronne du Nord, the Fort de la Briche and the Fort de l'Est, which cover St. Denis, and the approach on the heights of Montmartre, with ... common with the Fortress of Aubervilliers situated at the northeast angle of the fortifications, will ... sustain the first assault of the Prussian artillery. The French will make a resolute defense of these fortresses, and their capture will prove far more difficult than the affair at Sedan.

Elegant Paragraphs

From the Washington Chronicle.

The Democratic journals ... ... A few ... that champion Democratic paper, the ... the Chicago ..., ... the following elegant paragraph:

The party which sympathizes with France is the party of Washington, Jefferson, Wright and Douglas. The party which sympathizes with Prussia is the party of the rail-splitting ... ... Brown ... Butler, the ... ... the pedantic Sumner, the ... and ... Greeley, ... the imbecile Banks, the miscegenationist ... and the drunken ... Yates, Nye and Chandler.

The same journal in referring to the enthusiasm of the Germans for Fatherland says: The Germans rush to arms when Bismarck ... with a ... rush to ... ... White House ... ... political ... ... in speaking of the ... ... its sympathies ...

It has no good word for the brave army of Frenchmen commanded by men who have won the way up from the ranks, and fled ... ... unteers who are fighting for home, country and freedom, but it applauds the army of marauding princes who would

Wade through slaughter to a throne,
And shut the gates of mercy on mankind.

We give these extracts to show the estimation placed upon German patriotism by the Democracy.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Napoleon Revokes the Decree Creating a Regency

NEW YORK, Sept. 2?.—A special telegram from ... of the 2?th says: A report is current in ... from well informed circles that the Emperor has revoked the decree which he issued in the ... ... of Sedan creating a regency in his place as Emperor. He has therefore sent an envoy to Metz to consult Marshal Bazaine in regard to the terms of peace. This confirms the statement made by Bazaine that he should only treat with the Emperor in reference to peace negotiations.

A special telegram from Marseilles of the 2?th says Garibaldi and ... number of ... have ... in favor of the Republic and marched to the seat of Government at Tours.

The French Recapture Important Positions around Paris

TOURS, Sept. 27.—The Prefect of the Department of the Loire, under date of Sept. 2?th, writes to the Minister of the Interior here as follows:

The following news is received by carrier pigeon from Paris, dated the 24th: A division of Gen. Manday yesterday attacked the heights at Villejuif, near Paris, which were occupied by Prussians. The battle began at 2 o'clock in the morning. After sustaining a sharp Prussian fire for some hours our troops captured the redoubts of Moulin Segue, Villejuif and Chantes Bruers. We occupy them now. The Garde Mobile behaved well. The enemy's loss is great.

The same day Bellimere, commander at St. Denis, attacked the village of Pierrefitte, about a mile north of St. Denis, which the Prussians had occupied in considerable force. The enemy was driven out and the French troops returned to St. Denis unmolested.

Bazaine Repudiates the Republic.

LONDON, Sept. 2?.—Bazaine repudiates the Republic and demands an order from the Emperor or Empress to surrender. It is now said that Bazaine has not offered to surrender Metz on any terms whatever.

Berlin Dispatch.

BERLIN, Sept. 2?.—A breach broad enough to warrant an assault has been made at Strasburg.

The North German Gazette, official journal, says whatever may be the German plans about France, the restoration of Bonaparte is not among them.

Evacuation of Orleans

TOURS, Sept. 27.—The following dispatch from the Prefect of the Department of Loire, dated at Orleans to-day, has just been received by the Minister of War:

The Generals here, seeing they could not resist the overwhelming forces of the enemy commanded by Prince Albert, have just evacuated Orleans in good order.

General News.

LONDON, Sept. 2?.—Bismarck's repudiation of the alleged demand for forts Du Mont and Valerien has been prompted by the reaffirmation of the statement signed by three Ministers of the Provisional Government.

BERLIN, Sept. 2?.—The Foreign Office has advised German representatives abroad, as well as the diplomatic corps in Berlin, that no government exists at Paris. The Government de facto is located at Tours. Hence Paris is left to pure military treatment.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—Dispatches from Marseilles received by a round about way state that the city is borrowing money and arming with her traditional patriotism.

The Prussians around Paris are said to maintain the strictest discipline. The Departments of the Seine, Loire and Marne are now under their control, except the city of Paris.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—Eastern visitors now here generally express much anxiety to make an acquaintance with an earthquake. One Boston man avows his intention to remain until Oct. 20, if one does not come sooner, for no other object than to experience a shock.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—Stockholders of the old American Mining Company will meet to disincorporate on the 3rd of October.

The weather continues quite warm, this being one of the warmest nights of the season.

COLORADO

DENVER, Sept. 2?.—The Colorado Central Railroad was completed to Golden City to-day and the event was celebrated in an appropriate manner.

I regard the movement ... headed by Carl Schurz ... ... intended to carry a portion of the Republican party over to the Democratic party, and ... ... the control ... ... the regular ticket your support.

Three successive Democratic County Treasurers in Hancock county, who have proved defaulters, the last one having just absconded, his account showing a defalcation of over $20,010. In the same county the last Democratic Sheriff was a defaulter in the amount of $8,000. Doubtless the Democrats of Hancock county affect to be incensed at the alleged corruption of the Republican party.

FROM THE STATE CAPITAL

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

SALEM, Sept. 26, 1870.

THE HAPPY FAMILY

Among the first proceedings in the Senate this afternoon was the consideration of and debate upon the resolution to instruct our Congressional delegation to procure the designation of the recently organized railroad company of Jacksonville as the company to receive the land grant and all subsidies provided for in the Central Pacific Branch Railroad Bill. In the course of the discussion Mr. Watts of Yamhill, among others, took occasion to speak for the resolution. Mr. Cochran, who had borne a little hardly upon Mr. Fay, made an allusion to Mr. Watts, saying that it was easy enough to see why he should favor the resolution; he wanted to secure votes to keep him in his seat, which is contested. Mr. Fay in reply prefaced his remarks by saying that the Senator from Lane seemed always apprehensive that somebody was about to steal something, and that it seemed to be a habit of his (Cochran) when other gentlemen differed with him to attribute bad motives. He then went after Cochran with considerable severity, saying that this habit was a misfortune for which the gentleman is probably not morally responsible. Perhaps he measured others by his own standard. At all events on questions of this kind, where he had an undoubted right to differ with a gentleman, he wished to assure the gentleman from Lane that he was not dictator, and other sharp and severe things. In regard to Cochran's allusion to Watts, Mr. Fay was particularly severe, saying indignantly that such speeches were out of place and ought not be permitted in the Senate. Mr. Cochran was visibly excited, but he declined to make any reply, either through a prudent respect for the lance which Mr. Fay carries or a determination to settle all such little family jars in the privacy of the caucus room. Mr. Watts also took occasion to score Cochran very sharply in a pointed, biting speech of about three minutes. The Senate seemed really in danger of falling into bad humor when Mr. ...well came to the rescue with a few remarks so well put, so apparently sincere and yet so humorously sarcastic in regard to the various and sundry positions in which he had found the Democracy within the last four or five months, that all hands had a laugh all round, and then the Senate put on its bland face again, and went on with its work.

SHARP PRACTICE AND BAD FAITH

The discussion on the above mentioned resolution disclosed a fact in regard to some Democratic gentlemen which may lead to further manifestations of personal ill feeling. When Kelly swallowed his manhood and signed that resolution pledging himself to the Williams amendment, he had reason to believe, and so did others, that the Democratic caucus which presented the dose to him was unanimous in prescribing the medicine for his disease. It seems, however, that Cochran at least was quite willing to pledge the Democratic party and help himself for the sake of electing him to something he was prepared to oppose as soon as the trick should serve its purpose. He assisted to steal away Fay's votes by a pretense of favoring the Williams amendment, and then in less than a quarter of a moon comes into the Senate and talks and votes against it. This was certainly sharp practice, but I fancy that its questionable morals was half the occasion for the sharp words used by Mr. Fay in the discussion this afternoon. Mr. Cochran is not altogether alone in this boat. Mr. Hoult of Linn county voted with him, and when the resolution goes into the House there will be found others to follow suit. It need not surprise anybody if the matter results in a family quarrel of handsome dimensions. Mr. Cochran has the honor to be the first to fall on to the Herald's proposition to consider that caucus pledges are mere words, meaning nothing, and to be repudiated at pleasure. If anything had been wanting to complete the humiliation of Kelly's position before the country and his party, this showing by Cochran of the hollowness of the pledge exacted of him must have supplied it.

IF DIRECT MEANS WON'T, INDIRECT MEANS MUST

You have noticed, no doubt, that a bill is pending in the Senate to create the office of State Reporter. Thereby hangs a tale. The Supreme Court is composed of three Democrats and two Republicans. The Clerk of the Court is a Republican—Richard Williams. He can't be got out because Judge Thayer, a personal friend, though a Democrat, sticks to him. The office must be rid of this Radical and filled by a bed rock Democrat, or Democracy would fail to be vindicated. The bill in question provides a way to do it. It provides that the State Reporter, in addition to his other duties, shall be ex-officio Clerk of the Supreme Court. The Legislature—the present one—is to elect the Reporter. Do you see it? If the Court won't, the caucus will. The bill will kill two birds with one stone—it will chop off the head of a Republican official and provide a new and better office for a Democrat. The coming man is not yet visible outside of caucus doors, but I predict Bonham, as he is not likely to belong to the Supreme Court in any other way.

THE ACCOMMODATION BILL

The bill to enable Judge Thayer to attend the annual agricultural horse trot came into the Senate from the House to-day with a message that the House had passed it, so it is now a law so far as the Legislative department has to do with it. It is the first instance, I believe, on record where the solemnity of law has been invoked to enable a judicial functionary to go to a horse race.

TARRY YE JUSTICE

No word yet to indicate when the contested cases will be brought on. The Democratic ardor in this behalf seems to have cooled in a most remarkable degree, and not all the boring of the ambitious gentlemen just outside the Legislative doors can warm it again. Blow how as they will, it won't glow worth a cent. I more than half believe that several of the Hon. Insiders would be delighted if the contestants would pack their carpet bags and take the down train for their peaceful homes. Meantime ... ... and the ... ... hang around and twist their ... ... very pictures of masculine ... ... many ornaments.

THE RAILROAD

The stage and railroad connection at the Fair Ground will not take place before Wednesday. Construction trains are, however, now running to the Fair Ground. A turn table has been constructed at that place. A large force of men are at work in securing the trestle work, puddling and levelling the track, getting out gravel and ballasting ... In a week or two at farthest the track will be in condition to enable the trains to make the trip between Salem and Portland in about three hours.

THEATRICAL

The Bird Troupe will open at the Opera House next Thursday night. They have been engaged for several days in getting up new scenery, machinery and generally getting ready for the inauguration of the season in gay style.

The Daily Oregonian

WEDNESDAY MORNING, SEPT [illegible] 1870

A Great Man's Photograph

The San Francisco Examiner undertakes to tell the world something about Senator Kelly. Its account of him abounds in general phrases such as Democratic papers habitually use in praising their candidates and so called statesmen. No doubt if the Examiner were to give a panegyric on John Morrissey it would be in the same style and strain with this laudatory notice of Col Kelly. Not [illegible] who know Kelly can avoid a smile, and it would be difficult for any one to avoid a sneer on reading the Examiner's statement that Col Kelly "is an able and logical speaker, goes directly to the point and is adroit and ready in debate." The people of Oregon who have been accustomed to hear Kelly's speeches during fifteen or eighteen years know that the above describes just what Col Kelly is not. Instead of being a logical speaker he never has delivered and never can deliver a speech that an intelligent audience would not call a loose-jointed harangue without beginning, middle, or end. Instead of going directly to the point he splutters and scatters and never makes a point, and no one who ever heard him deliver a speech could tell at its close what particular ideas he meant to enforce. Perhaps we should except from this general criticism the single speech he delivered here in the last campaign in which he did succeed in convincing his audience that he wanted to repudiate the whole national debt. Further the Examiner says that he occupies a leading position at the bar in Portland. The truth is, as all know, that his position at the bar is a very inferior one. He never had a great case in his life, though he has been professedly a lawyer for many years, and in truth he never had but few cases of any kind. The Examiner says he is "a hard shell Democrat." That is true, and it is about all there is of him. He does not represent the ability and intellectual force of his party in the State; he represents simply the most obsolete and stolid of its old fogy notions. Personally he is amiable and his general deportment is unobjectionable. But the idea of attempting to palm him off on the country as a statesman is absurd. He will be a failure in the Senate; he will disappoint his party by reason of his want of tact and ability, and will sit for six years an incubus upon the progress of the State. He goes into the position by a humiliating bargain, and at the end of his term will drop out of it unnoticed into the deep waters of oblivion.

We observe that the Herald copies the Examiner's panegyric as in duty bound.

How Tammany Manages Elections

The enumeration of the inhabitants of New York city, showing a population but a little in excess of 900,000, greatly alarms the Tammany managers. It is a blow at illegal voting and fraudulent Democratic majorities, which they see the necessity of warding off. In many of the election districts the census marshals have been unable to find an aggregate population exceeding the number of votes thrown in recent elections. The Tammany Mayor, Oakey Hall, recommends to the Tammany Common Council that measures be taken to obtain a new census, under authority of the city in those districts. This would be pretty, indeed! Of course the city authorities under the direction of Tammany, could soon produce an overwhelming array of figures to sustain their fraudulent voting. It would be easier than "repeating" at the polls and much safer. They could fix it,—of course they could,—in such a way as to show that no disparity exists between voters and population!

New York City in 1860, according to the census taken that year, had 815,000 inhabitants. It was suspected and charged at the time that this number was in excess of the actual population, and was fixed up by the Democratic managers for political effect. But granting that it was 815 000 in 1860, and that it is but a little over 900 000 now, this does not argue a lack of growth in the metropolis, it simply indicates that multitudes have been driven, by the high cost of living, into the suburbs. Let us now compare the vote of the city at different periods:

	Republican	Democratic	Total
1860	34,290	62 293	94 583
1864	36 681	73,709	110 390
1868	47 747	108 303	156 050

It will be seen by this showing that in 1860, when the city had 815 000 inhabitants, it threw a total vote of 94 583. Also that in 1868 the aggregate vote was increased to 156,050,—though the present census, taken two years later, shows that the total population is very little more than 900 000! That is, while the population of the city proper has scarcely increased at all, the vote of the city has almost doubled, and the increase of the vote is almost wholly on the Democratic side. These are figures which it will do to ponder on. Nothing else in the United States is so well calculated to alarm those who hope for the continued success of popular government as the accumulating proof of these systematic and gigantic election frauds in New York City. That city is the stronghold of the so called Democratic party. That party hardly has a footing anywhere else in the United States. And the whole country sees now how its power there is maintained.

Dispatches again say that all hope of peace is abandoned. A recent letter from Paris to the New York Tribune says that they who talk of mediation talk as if they did not know that not a single Frenchman will cease to fight till he himself, not their people, acknowledges that the country is vanquished, and that there is absolutely no hope of rescuing France from political degradation and military dishonor. From all indications it surely will not take France long to realize this situation.

The Eugene Guard (Democratic) opposes the bill introduced in the Legislature to divide the office of Clerk in Lane county so as to separate the office of County Clerk from that of Recorder and Circuit Clerk ex officio. It calls the measure a partisan one, and intimates that it is introduced simply because the present Clerk of the county is a Republican.

The population of Kansas is 369 319. In 1860 it was 107 204. The population of New Hampshire is 317 [illegible], a loss of 8 0[illegible] in ten years. Yesterday through a compositor's error these last figures were given in this paper as the population of Maine.

The Walla Walla Statesman tells us that Col Kelly "will take no second place in the Senate." True enough, he'll take the very last place.

Work has ceased for a time at the Bellingham Bay coal mines owing to the presence of a vast quantity of water in the mine. A pump has been sent for to San Francisco to clear the works of the obstruction.

The Organ on Portland and East Portland

We suppose there are few people who after what has recently transpired [illegible] would be surprised at any position the Democratic party might take on the subject of railroads. Democracy goes back on its positions with a readiness and rapidity that would be astonishing in any party except that party of eternal principles. A new illustration of this is furnished by the course of the Herald in relation to the west side railroad. Speaking of the [illegible] that [illegible] will [illegible] the Willamette at Oswego and run [illegible] the Herald [illegible]:

Now as [illegible] Portland [illegible] carried into execution. To divert trade from Portland by allowing both railroads to stop on the opposite side of the river is a proposition so contrary to all the rules and experience of trade as to require no gainsaying. A city like Portland will allow no rival. Everything that approaches within her grasp is drawn to her business centres by the inexorable laws of trade.

Thus the Herald of September 27th. Now for the Herald of June 11th last:

EAST PORTLAND vs PORTLAND.—There can no longer be any doubt that Ben Holladay has planned a city on the east side of the Wallamet to the damage and destruction of the trade and business and prospects of this city. The election is past and there can be no object or motive now as there never has been, to state more than the truth on this point. If Holladay can capture the West Side road, and run it into his East Portland depot, then by moving his steamers to that side of the river, the job is done, and Portland becomes to East Portland a mere suburb, a place for residences not business. No one need abuse Holladay for this. It is clearly his interest, for while two railroads would bring to his steamships tribute and trade from the whole of Oregon, it would concentrate such interests as would enable him to make good terms with the North Pacific Railroad Company and enhance the value of his real estate (the Wheeler tract) from fifty thousand dollars, its cost, to a couple of millions. It is a grand game, and Ben will play it if he can.

If the property holders of Portland desire to maintain the value of their property, and the continuance of their rents, and secure any future to this city, they must awake to action now and take the necessary steps to checkmate this over-going ambitious enemy of their interests. The rat-hole threat is being carried out.

And on the 23d June the Herald proceeded as follows to prove that Portland will allow no rival, and that there is no gainsaying the fact that she commands the situation in spite of Mr Holladay, and the termination of two railroads at East Portland:

Portland is in its infancy. The invested capital is not large, probably three million dollars. It is quite easy for Holladay to concentrate at East Portland an amount of capital equal to this. One hundred miles of East Side railroad is equal to three millions of active working capital. Then add the Steamship Company, a million more, and the working capital of East Portland is equal to if not superior to this city. And now to this add Holladay's proposed steamboats on the Wallamet and Columbia rivers and the West Side railroad if he should get that, and the business of Portland could no more compete with that of East Portland than can [illegible] compete with San Francisco. The capital of East Portland would so far exceed that of this city, that the process of absorption would at once commence. It must be borne in mind that railroads, steamships and steamboats are aggressive working capital, and Portland's capital in brick and mortar, could not make much of a contest with such opposition.

There now, we humbly submit that the Herald can beat Col Kelly and all the Democrats in the Legislature in grand feats of somersaulting on the railroad platform. We need not quote further from its valuable opinions on this subject, though like the celebrated razor strop man we could furnish plenty more of the same sort. We only add the general remark that the people of Oregon surely have reason to repose confidence in this consistent Democratic party and its official organ! It has made the railroad question a leading issue. Isn't the result a pretty one?

The Mitrailleur Humbug

(From the Philadelphia Bulletin, Sept 9.)

If a little of the French reports were to be believed there would be very little left of the German armies by this time. There has not been a battle, a sortie, a skirmish, in which huge bodies of German troops, ranging in number from a corps of infantry to a squadron of Uhlans, have not been annihilated by that terrible bugbear the mitrailleur. Every bullet from that miraculous weapon kills, not its man, but its several men. It does not decimate; that would be very inferior gunning for the mitrailleur. It destroys, it sweeps away, it mows down, it cuts clean lanes through the serried columns of the enemy with its Mantalinian grind, grind, grind, until the grinders cease because they are few, and mortal arm cannot turn a crank forever.

Habit, however, familiarizes the human mind with almost everything, and it is said that even eels accustom themselves to the unpleasant process which prepares them for the market and the frying pan. And so these stolid Germans, who ought to know, if the much talked of universal education of Prussia amounts to anything—that they have been swept into destruction, mind it no more than if the bullets of the mitrailleur were so many snowballs, and still go marching on, with their faces turned Pariswards, demanding a satisfactory answer to the yet unanswered conundrum, "Was ist des Deutschen Vaterland?"

These prodigious performances of the mitrailleur are beginning to excite the suspicion of the French Government, and as they increase in magnitude with every new battle the Ministry begins to give the results to the people "with reserve," and a very sagacious reserve it is. Thus the mitrailleur has been at its old tricks at Strasbourg, and the French Ministry tell the good people of Paris all about it, "with reserve." For the story requires a huge amount of reserve. The Prussians were crossing the moat which surrounds Metz on two pontoon bridges, and the garrison just waited until both pontoons were filled with troops, and then they sallied out with the inevitable and irrepressible mitrailleur and swept "eight or ten thousand" of the enemy into the moat, pell mell, killed outright every man of them, while the rest ran away. No wonder that the Ministry told this superb story "with reserve." For, if the moat at Strasbourg be a hundred feet wide, it is a very wide moat, and if the Prussians crowded five hundred men on their pontoon bridges, they must have been very close together, which accounts for the Ministerial reserve on the subject. Ten thousand men killed on two short pontoon bridges was a large exploit, even for the mitrailleur, and it will probably form the grand climacteric of these wondrous achievements, so that we may hope soon to see a gradual modification of these Munchausenisms until we get down to something approaching the truth.

THE TERRITORIES

Considerable numbers of settlers are going into Stevens county W T this year.

During the months of August and September A B Elmer of Walla Walla has assayed $3 000 gold from the mines above that place.

Near Delta W T on the 24th George Royce was killed in an altercation by Edward Jones. The correspondent who advises us of this occurrence gives no particulars.

A man named Joseph Yates was shot and killed a few days ago at Camas Prairie, above Lewiston, by Peter Walters. The difficulty grew out of a settlement of some business matters. The killing is thought to have been unprovoked, and is looked upon as murder.

The item is still going around the papers that Mr Jeff Standifer, the Kit Carson of the Northwest, W L Barnham and twenty others were killed recently in the Wind River Mountains. It is believed to be without foundation, as Mr Standifer has not been in the Wind River Mountains since June 2[illegible] 1868, has had no men killed, and is now in Deer Lodge, good for any kind of a campaign, and Mr Barnham is near Boise, Idaho.

POLITICAL NOTES

The convicts in the New Jersey State Prison publish a paper called the Trenton Sentinel. It is Democratic and bemoans the corruption of Grant's Administration.

Andrew Stewart, the Republican candidate for Congress in the Twenty first Pennsylvania district, was chosen a member of the House in October 1820, just half a century ago.

The St Louis Democrat prints a list of forty nine Republican papers in Missouri that support McClurg and the regular Republican State ticket, also a list of twelve papers that favor B Gratz Brown and the bolters.

Judge Linton Stevens, of Georgia, brother of Alexander H, has written a letter, in which he recommends to the Democrats of Georgia to pay no attention to the disabilities acts of Congress and to nominate such men as they think proper without regard to their eligibility or to the prospect of their admission. Very good. They won't get their seats.

The returns of the election in Vermont with twenty three small towns to hear from, give Stewart, Republican, for Governor 19 931 majority. The remaining towns gave Washburn, Republican, last year 899 majority. So the Republican majority in the State will vary little from 21 000, which will show an increase of about 600 on the Republican majority of last year.

The Knoxville Whig and Register says the resolutions of the Greene county convention repeat the sentiments of Andrew Johnson, so gloriously enunciated in his messages, and predict that "they will achieve a popularity not inferior to the veto messages of ex President Johnson." The popularity of ex President Johnson's veto messages is good, very good! The Register and Whig does not state how often the "flag" and the "Constitution" occur in the Greene county resolutions, but a liberal number of times, we venture to guess.

From the New York Tribune: The Republicans of the Territory of Wyoming have achieved a splendid victory in the election of William T Jones as Delegate to Congress by 200 majority over Wanless, Democrat. The first election in this Territory took place in 1869, when S F Nuckolls, Democrat, was elected Delegate by 1 436 majority in an aggregate poll of 5 306 votes. We now have returns from the whole Territory, with the exception of two small precincts, showing a majority for Jones of 106, which the missing precincts will probably increase to 200—a Republican gain of about 1 600. The aggregate vote of Cheyenne, the capital of the Territory, was 7[illegible]6—171 of the voters being women. We regret to notice that the Republican candidates of County Clerk and Superintendent of Public Schools for Laramie county—Mrs Phoebe Pickett and Mrs M H Arnold—were beaten by their ungallant Democratic opponents.

For Coughs, Colds and Throat disorders, use BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES, having proved their efficacy by a test of many years. The Troches are highly recommended and prescribed by Physicians. Those exposed to sudden changes should always be supplied with The Troches, as they give prompt relief.

AN [illegible] EVENT.—[illegible] and [illegible] who [illegible] in New York [illegible] San Francisco [illegible] the patent [illegible] introduced here some [illegible] We quote concerning it as follows from the San Francisco Alta:

For many years the inventive genius of Americans has been [illegible] to get up a style of wooden block pavement which would combine together economy and durability. In this respect Mr Samuel Nicolson [illegible] In this [illegible] Chicago [illegible] admirable pavement [illegible] Following in his wake many other inventors of inlaid patents [illegible] block pavements which were substantially [illegible] each adhering to in some immaterial point [illegible] the fatal [illegible] indispensable to [illegible] rest upon a broad [illegible] It was reserved for Mr Henry M Stow of San Francisco to first conceive the plan to dispense with the board, and at the same time provide for securing a solid foundation. His plan is to first prepare the road bed precisely the same as if to be covered with cobble stones. Then lay thereon [illegible] blocks of wood, [illegible] three or four inches [illegible] boards with the lower end sharpened to a wedge. After ten feet [illegible] of the street has been thus covered the work of setting the blocks is commenced by means of a small swedge, which are used in [illegible] the sand or earth bed beneath the block [illegible] compressed to the point of solidity. Then the vacuum occasioned by the sinking of the thin blocks is filled in with a compressed concrete formed of gravel and coal tar or asphaltum, thereby causing [illegible] This pavement [illegible] simple in its mode of construction, but it is nevertheless founded upon strict scientific principles, and the more it is tested the better it seems. The advantages of this over all other wood pavements are embraced in these propositions: 1st. It is more easily and cheaply laid. 2d. When laid it is more solid and durable. 3rd. After it has been laid it can be taken up and relaid for one quarter of the expense attending the taking up and relaying a portion of a pavement with a board foundation, when such an operation becomes necessary in order to lay down gas or water pipes.

REAL ESTATE.—Real estate transfers as follows were recorded yesterday:

Ben J Stark and wife to J C Ainsworth and R R Thompson, lots [illegible] and [illegible] in block 31, warranty deed, consideration $6 000.

W R Cooper and wife to J [illegible] D Lownsdale, a piece of land in Lownsdale's Addition, quit claim deed, consideration $900.

Dario L Walker to Isaac P Walker, blocks 3[illegible], 306 and 31[illegible] in the large E [illegible] Aiken's Addition to East Portland, warranty deed, consideration $1 163.

John Perrot and wife to Joseph Clonet and Joseph Lawrence, the undivided two thirds of block 25 in Couch Addition, warranty deed, consideration $2 010.

W [illegible] Johnson and wife, J Gaston, C M Carter and wife to Daniel Peck, the southeast quarter of section 20, township 1 south, range 2 east, consideration $800.

C J Hemmel and wife to J S Walker and J F Ghiselin, block 28 in Caruther's Addition, warranty deed, consideration $3 000.

Hannah M Smith to Edward Dalton, all the east half of the southwest quarter of section 25, township 1 north, range 1 east of the Wallamet meridian, excepting [illegible]0 acres, quit claim deed, consideration $1.

TRIP TO CALIFORNIA.—We understand that Col W W Chapman, attorney for L. M. Starr, in the case of Starr vs Stark, in the U. S. Circuit Court, being permitted by the court to take a copy of all the papers on file in this suit, to be used before Judge Sawyer in San Francisco, on application for an injunction, had the same made as quickly as possible, and will go at once to San Francisco to represent the interests of his client there. This will be the first trip of Colonel Chapman to San Francisco, we learn, for twenty years. In 1850, if we mistake not, Col. Chapman, Gen Coffin, and other citizens of Portland visited San Francisco to be present at a Fourth of July celebration, and on that occasion took with them a flag staff 150 feet long from the site of this now flourishing city, and presented it to the Mayor of San Francisco with considerable ceremony. The flag staff was erected on the plaza at San Francisco, and stood there for many years. Col. Chapman is now gray with the frosts of many winters, but his duty to his clients bids him to travel the distance necessary for this trip to represent their case.

YAMHILL COUNTY ITEMS.—By invitation, &c., [illegible] Henderson, Superintendent of Common Schools in Yamhill county, the leading teachers of the county met at Lafayette on Saturday last to organize a County Teachers' Association. It was duly organized, and after the discussion of several educational topics an examination of teachers was appointed for the next session, and the following addresses and essays: Chas M Blake, A M, Principal of Amity Public School, Natural Science; J Wesley Eddy, A M, Principal of North Yamhill Academy, A day in the School Room; S W King, Principal of Lafayette Academy, Teaching; Savage, of McMinnville, "Essay"; W Johnson of Dayton, Essay; Henderson, Address. The first quarterly session of the Association will be held at Lafayette Academy Dec 2[illegible]th and 31st, to begin at 2 o'clock P M of the 30th.

The North Yamhill Academy is in a flourishing condition.

THE LOWNSDALE SUITS.—A big stir has been occasioned in this city within the past forty eight hours, incident to the beginning of 26[illegible] separate suits for ejectment from some sixty five valuable parcels of city property. These suits are brought by Messrs Hill, Page and Thayer, attorneys for Millard Lownsdale, M [illegible] Lamb, Ida Squiers and Lansing B Mizner of San Francisco, purchaser of the further interest of J P O Lownsdale, Mrs W E Cooper and Mrs Eugenia Sempe, all heirs of Daniel H Lownsdale, deceased. There being four plaintiffs, and each bringing a separate suit, increases the number as above. [illegible] these suits 119 are brought in the United States Circuit Court and the remainder in State Courts. The titles involved are the Pettygrove titles, running back for at least twenty years.

LARGE STOCK.—We invite attention to the new advertisement [illegible] another column to-day of oils, glass ware, silver ware, etc, by M Seller, 65 Front street. In January last Mr Seller left this city on a tour [illegible] and at the same time he made his purchases, and the stock now in store are some of the results of that trip. Those who use kerosene should read Mr Seller's new advertisement. The establishment of Mr Seller occupies [illegible] 100, which are packed full of goods [illegible] a large room 50 by 100 [illegible] that have been [illegible] Eastern manufacturers hands. CITY.

NEW PAVEMENT — A gentleman of this city who has given greatly to speculation has called our attention to an improved pavement used in San Francisco and now being introduced in New York Philadelphia and other large cities. This new pavement is known as the Stow Foundation Pavement. The Nicolson Foundation gives good satisfaction in Portland, the patent of which for this city is now owned here, but as the Stow is probably better, some notice of the merits claimed for it may not be inappropriate. We quote concerning it as follows from the San Francisco

For many years past the inventive genius of has been heavily taxed to get up a wooden block pavement which would combine economy and durability. In this reform Mr Samuel Nicolson of took the lead and he certainly succeeded in getting up an admirable pavement. In his wake many other inventors obtained patents for wooden block pavements which were essentially like the Nicolson, yet differing in immaterial points but each adhering to the blunder into which Mr Nicolson had fallen in supposing it indispensable to have board flooring for the blocks to rest upon. It was reserved for Mr Henry M Stow of San Francisco to first conceive of a plan to dispense with the board flooring and at the same time provide for securing a much more solid foundation. His plan being to prepare the road bed precisely as if it was all to be covered with cobble stones. Then lay in tiers from curb to curb blocks of wood alternately thick and thin—the thick blocks 3 or 4 inches in thickness and the thin ones of inch thickness with the lower end sharpened to a wedge. When the street has been thus laid the work of settling the blocks is completed by means of a small swedge which are used in driving the thin blocks or wedges between the thicker blocks till the sand or earth bed beneath is forced or confined to the point of solidity. The vacuum occasioned by the sinking of the thin blocks is filled in with a compressed concrete of gravel and coal tar or asphaltum, thereby forming an even and solid road bed. This pavement is simplicity itself in its mode of construction, but it is nevertheless founded upon scientific principles, and the more it is tested the better it seems. The advantages of this over all other wood pavements are embraced in the following: 1st. It is more easily and cheaply laid. 2d. When laid it is more solid and durable. 3d. After it has been laid it can be taken up and relaid for one quarter of the expense of the taking up and re-laying a portion of the Nicolson's board foundation, when such a step becomes necessary in order to lay gas or water pipes.

A CITY MARKET —We hear of a party who is willing to erect a suitable building in a central part of this city for a city market and public hall, in case the City Council will take the needed steps to provide regulations for the same on the basis of the public markets of other large cities. The building which is proposed would be made with a view of accommodating at least twenty persons with market stalls and eight grocery and provision stores on the ground floor—to be two stories, 80 by 100 feet, of wood or brick—as may be deemed advantageous—the second story to be divided into rooms, with one large hall for concerts public meetings, etc. It is time that some move was made in the matter of a public market under city regulations

Mr Baldwin, of Grant, the petition of numerous citizens for an increase of the school tax referred to the committee on Education

Mr Baldwin the petition of forty persons for a law defining what is a lawful fence; referred to the committee on Counties

INTRODUCTION AND FIRST READING OF BILLS

S B 31—to provide for the selection and sale of swamp and overflowed lands introduced by Mr Burch

S B 32—to tax and regulate Fire and Marine Insurance companies doing business in this State, by Mr Stout

S B 9—to make an appropriation to supply the deficiency in the appropriation to drain school lands in Marion county

H B 15—to disincorporate the Trustees of Trinity School Portland

SECOND READING OF BILLS

The following bills were read a second time, considered engrossed and ordered to be read a third time to-morrow

S B 27—to regulate the examination of teachers in schools of this State, and S B 28 to define a quarter of a school year

THIRD READING OF BILLS.

S B 16—to provide aid for the construction of a wagon road along the south bank of the Columbia, from the mouth of Sandy river to Dalles city. The bill names James Powell of Multnomah and R. Grant and J H Mosher of Wasco as Commissioners to superintend the expenditures of money and the construction of the road.

The question being upon the passage of the bill, a lengthy discussion took place between Messrs Cornelius Watts and Cochran in opposition and Messrs. Trevitt Fay Baldwin Stout and Mosher in favor

The bill makes an appropriation of $16,000 out of the fund arising from the sale of the 500 000 acres of land donated to the State by Congress for internal improvements. Our Constitution provides that this fund if Congress should give its consent should be an irreducible school fund. The debate turned upon the point whether such consent of Congress had been given—Messrs Cornelius and Watts, holding that such consent had been implied if not positively given, others arguing against that view and that the treatment of the grant by our State authorities as being devoted and belonging to the school fund was illegal. They held that the land having been given for internal improvements by a law of Congress cannot be used for any other purpose without an Act of Congress

Those who voted for the passage of the bill were Messrs Baldwin Brown of Baker Burch Hendershott Holtzclaw Llewellan Mosher Powell Stout Trevitt, and the President—11

In the negative Messrs. Brown of Marion Cochran, Cornelius Crawford, Hoult Moores Patterson Watts Witham—9

Before the vote was declared Mr Trevitt changed his vote to the negative making it stand 10 to 10 so the bill was lost

Mr Trevitt gave notice of an intention to move a reconsideration of the vote

Mr Fay rose to a question of privilege. He referred to and read an article recently published in the Oregon Herald charging that a candidate for United States Senator had attempted to secure his election by corruption and treachery. After some remarks in which he denounced the article as scandalous and scurrilous and evidently pointed at him Fay he moved the appointment of a Committee to investigate the charges

The motion prevailed

The President pro tem, Mr Burch appointed as such Committee Messrs Baldwin Mosher Cornelius Hoult, and Brown of Baker

The Senate at 5 20 P M adjourned

HOUSE—Morning Session

SALEM Tuesday Sept 27

The House was called to order at 10 o clock A M by the Speaker

The roll was called and all the members recorded as present except Messrs Larson and Olney

Indefinite leave of absence was granted to Mr Ca son on account of sickness

OREGON BRANCH OF THE C P R R CO

The Speaker—There is a message from the Senate which was not acted on yesterday and I take the opportunity of calling the attention of the House to it. The Clerk will read the message

The message transmits Senate Joint Resolution No 11 designating the Oregon branch of the Central Pacific R R Company of Jacksonville Oregon incorporated August 25 1870 as the company to receive the grant of lands for the construction of the Oregon branch of the Central Pacific Railroad terminating in the Rogue river valley on the Oregon and California Railroad

Mr Whiteaker—I move to lay the resolution upon the table

Mr Lockhart—It seems to me that this is taking advantage of the friends of this resolution. It is called up very early and this is cutting off debate

Mr Helm—I arise to a point of order. This motion is not debatable

Mr O Regan—I arise for information. Was the motion made to stop debate

The Speaker—The Chair is not informed as to the object of the mover

Mr Whiteaker—If the House is disposed to hear me, I will explain. Leave is granted. I made the motion in order that we might have time to consider what disposition ought to be made of this resolution. I propose to lay it upon the table until gentlemen have had time to consider the propriety of giving the grant of lands to the company herein named

Mr Lockhart—I move to amend by laying the bill on the table to be considered as the special order for to morrow at clock P M

Mr Whiteaker I have some doubts as to whether my motion is amendable

Mr Lockhart—I am of the opinion that a motion to lay on the table for a given time is debatable

The Speaker The Chair decides that the gentleman s motion is not debatable

Mr Lockhart I desire to explain. A simple motion to adjourn is not debatable but a motion to adjourn to a day certain is debatable. So I think the motion to lay on the table for a time certain is debatable. Mr Lockhart was overruled and the amendment adopted. The motion to lay on the table prevailed

COOS BAY WAGON ROAD COMPANY

The House proceeded to consider House bill No granting lands to the Coos Bay Wagon Road Company in Committee of the Whole

Mr Whiteaker was called to the Chair

The bill was read and considered by sections. After some discussion the committee rose reported back the bill and amendments with the recommendation and asked leave to sit again. Leave was granted and at 12 45 the House adjourned

Afternoon Session

The House met at 2 o clock the Speaker in the Chair

Mr Lockhart moved to take from the Committee of the Whole, House bill No —, an act donating certain lands to the Coos Bay Wagon Road Company

The motion prevailed and the bill with the amendments was referred to the Judiciary Committee

Mr Helm [illegible]

Mr Hayden said that he objected to ... the House

Mr Amis—I shall certainly object to any such arrangement. If we allow the sitting members to take their own course we may have to stay here all through the session. I would prefer for appointing a committee of twelve members as jurors and then to allow them to decide. I think we could in that way greatly expedite the case. What are the interests of the sitting members or the contestants to the interests of the State? If we take up that case load of evidence and go through with it we will occupy the whole session. It costs the State four hundred dollars a day to run this Legislature, and I think we had better get through with these matters as soon as possible

Mr Hare—The committee to whom this case was first referred had all the evidence in the case read and it did not take over 10 hours. But if it took much longer it is a question whether we ought not to spend all the necessary time in getting at the facts in the case. My friend from Lane Mr Amis may be prepared already to vote upon this contest. It is an important fact that some men are willing to take grants under such circumstances

Mr Amis sotto voce—I am not ready to vote

Mr Hare—The testimony is here and why should it not be read. Let us see what it establishes. If it establishes the right of the sitting members let them remain members of this body. If it establishes the right of the contestants by all means let them be admitted to their seats. The people of the State of Oregon have an interest in the matter which we must not disregard. Let us have a fair and impartial investigation of the case

Mr Helm thought the counsel for the sitting members should be ... and that the contestants should be ...

Mr Olney—I would accept an amendment to limit the time to two hours

Mr Amis—Say two weeks

Mr Olney—I will accept two hours

The resolution with the proposed amendment was read

Mr Dorris thought so short a time would be unjust to both parties

Mr Helm—I understand this proposition to limit the time is a mere ... and majority and minority report was made—they did not ... Gentlemen I know that it will take more than ten hours to try this case. Is it possible that there is a gentleman here who wishes to force this case through with only two hours on each side. Do gentlemen desire to deal fairly

Mr Olney interrupting—There appears to be a misunderstanding of the reading of the resolution. With the gentleman s consent I will withdraw my amendment and leave the time unlimited as before.

Mr Helm suggested that the testimony should be read, and that the counsel on each side should be allowed one hour to sum up the facts

Mr Whiteaker in the Chair

Mr Hayden was willing to leave the arrangement as to time of testimony with the counsel. He had acted as counsel in two cases at the last session. In one he had been allowed and ... the other half an hour. He thought the House got tired of him in both cases [Laughter]

The resolution as first offered was adopted

Mr Strahn began with his testimony stating that his case rests mainly upon the rejection of certain votes of men alleged to have been imported into Benton county in violation of the law. After occupying about an hour in reading depositions he gave way for a motion to adjourn

Mr Amis offered a resolution to change the hours of meeting to 9 o clock A M and 1½ o clock P M

Mr Olney—Under that rule there would be no time for committee work

Mr Whaley—I hope that motion will not prevail. It will leave too little time for committees to work. Some of them are now occupied with a great deal of business and they desire to be present also at the sessions. Should the resolution pass it will be necessary either for members to neglect committee duty or their duty in the House. Instead of advancing it would retard business

Mr Amis—I do not wish to impugn the motives of any member. If I could I would say that I have no doubt that the Republicans here desire to vote a business. Instead of assisting, it they want to see members of the Legislature running down to Portland or off to the Linn county fair and not attending to their duties. They claim that there is a great deal of work for the committees. I have seen members of the committees going up and down the streets until 10 o clock at night

Mr Dorris—I would like to ask where the gentleman from Lane was when he saw members out at 10 o'clock at night? Laughter

The Speaker—The Chair does not know

The resolution was rejected

COMMITTEE ON INSANE ASYLUM

Mr Whiteaker by leave reported that the committee on insane asylum had not yet came to any conclusion. The committee on the part of the Senate propose to ask for further time to report and on behalf the House committee, he asked further time; also stating that the joint committee contemplated having a public meeting in a few days to consider matters relating to the Insane Asylum

Further time was granted

At 4 o clock P M the House adjourned

The maxim that the voice of the people is the voice of ... may in some cases be open to doubt but ... the most enlightened witnesses extending through a series of years and all to the same purport is worthy of credence ... Upon such testimony the reputation of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as an antidote and cure for many ailments is based. During the twenty years that it has been before the world numerous preparations intended to compete with it have gone up like rockets and come down like exploded sticks. Meanwhile the progress of that incomparable tonic has been swift and steady—always upward and onward like the eagle s flight. Its introduction produced a revolution in therapeutics and it proved to be one of those salutary revolutions that cannot go backwards. To day Hostetter s Bitters is one of the most popular remedies in christendom and commands a larger sale than any other medicinal preparation domestic or imported on this side of the Atlantic. As a cure for dyspepsia bilious disorders nervous affections general debility and as a preventive of epidemic fevers it takes precedence of every other remedy. This fact should touch the ambitious country dealers who endeavor to foist their local abortions ... small attempts cajole the community must necessarily be. The French Crisis.

[illegible]

[illegible] sensational or [illegible] of the [illegible] themselves, or to dwell at great length upon the sufferings of the wounded which I have seen after the battle, I shall attempt to give you, so to say, a bird's-eye view upon the conditions under which the French army entered the campaign, and upon those under which the campaign has been carried till the present moment. It is already commonplace to say that the success of the Prussians has been the result of the mismanagement of the troops and of the unprepared state in which the army entered upon the war. But I do not know whether you have in your mind a summary of the chief reasons of this unreadiness for war. A country paying 600,000,000 francs for its army as France does, should have the right of always expecting itself prepared for war, but the money has been thrown away chiefly in the pay of the Generals and Marshals, who spend their lives at the Court. The so-called Intendance, which it seems has recently been praised in England, has done absolutely nothing, except the officers drawing their salaries, and leading the army into the field without provisions, without ammunition, and even without carriages and horses to carry provisions and ammunition. The army itself scattered all over France with a view to keep in subjection the revolutionary spirit of large cities, was concentrated very slowly, and was divided into an endless number of corps, for no other practical purpose than to create as many Marshals and Generals as there were friends of Marshal Leboeuf, and persons in favor at the Court.

THE ETAT-MAJOR.

The Etat-Major, a body whose chief duties ought to consist in the study, in time of peace, of strategical positions all over Europe and of reconnoitering in time of war, were officers who did not know even the map of France, and who were neither able to make a proper reconnoitering, nor would have been sent to make one, as they were chiefly aristocrats and fils de bonne maison, whom it would be a pity to expose to so dangerous duties. The Prussians send usually a couple of dozen of Uhlans—as they call their lancers, using their original Polish name—with three or four officers, and if one of them comes back safely with some useful information they are quite satisfied, thinking that the purchase is worth the expense. Thus they know everything about the French army, while the French did know nothing about them. Moreover, there is even an actual want of staff officers in France. Marshal Niel intended to create in every regiment a post of an officer of Etat-Major, but this measure has met with the discontentment of the whole army, as the line officers became jealous of the accomplished young men who, through their knowledge, would be at once elevated to a more prominent position. According to the Marshal's plan, such an officer has to pass the infantry, cavalry, and artillery regiments, so as to be fully versed in all the branches of the service, and, naturally enough, would on many occasions be the teacher or tutor even of the Colonel of the regiment himself. This did not suit the army, and a cry was raised against the measure, which was consequently abolished; and the army found itself without officers of the Etat-Major at the moment when they were wanted.

SUPERIOR PREPARATION OF THE PRUSSIAN ARMY.

Besides this whatever may be said concerning Napoleon having nourished for a long time the intention of going to war with Prussia, there can be no doubt whatever that Prussia had nourished the idea of going to war with France a still longer time, and made all the preparations which Napoleon could not have made without having every one's suspicions excited against him, both at home and abroad, while King William and Count Bismarck made all they liked without being noticed by any one. Not only the enormous Prussian army has been formed, armed, and prepared for fighting, but the whole ground where the war was likely to take place has been studied by traveling Prussian officers for several years past; and a few months before the opening of the war a German officer is known to have visited every corner of Vincennes and Metz in the assumed character of an old German beggar selling matches. The permanent Prussian military attache at the Court of the Tuileries went wherever he chose, and was shown everything he wished to see, while the French attache at Berlin was not allowed to see anything, and did not probably care to see anything. Further, the bordering population of East France is German, therefore the Prussian troops could gather all the information they wished from every child they met on the frontier, while the French were utterly unable to speak with the population on the German side of the frontier. France was covered, and is covered with German spies, and a report says that already 19 of them have been shot, while France has not a single spie in Germany, and the French people proudly say that they could not find any one among their countrymen to perform such duties.

NAPOLEON'S PLAN.

An offensive plan of campaign had been elaborated, and two points selected as bases of operations—Strasbourg and Metz. In those two places it was supposed that all the stores would be found, but when the army approached the frontier, the fortresses contained nothing but empty sacks. When I arrived at the frontier, in the last week in July, I found there only one corps scattered over the whole distance from the Luxemburg frontier to the corner of the Palatinate, and even this corps was supplied with regular war rations only a couple of weeks later. There was printed an endless quantity of columns in the English papers concerning the mental, political, and other hesitation of the Emperor Napoleon to cross the frontier. But, in reality, there was no hesitation whatever. There were no troops to cross with, and nothing to eat beside what could be bought in the neighborhood for ready cash, of which there was then plenty. In the beginning of August, when the other corps had reached the frontier, the Emperor began to lose his passions with the Intendance, and we had already then some rumors of his discontentment both with it and with Marshal Leboeuf. The plan of the campaign, which ought to have been completely changed, as the time for an offensive campaign had passed, remained still the same. The stores began to be much more speedily supplied to the bases of operations, but they could no more serve so advantageously as they would have served otherwise; for one-half of them were consumed almost at the moment they arrived, and the other half was subsequently cut away on various occasions by the enemy.

The plan of invading the Rhenish provinces and the Palatinate having been calculated so as not to keep too great a force on the same spot, with a view both to take at once possession of a larger space and of not having too great a number of men to provide for in what were anticipated to be devastated provinces, the three corps (the first of MacMahon, the second of Frossard, and the third of Bazaine) have been scattered over a distance of some 100 miles from Sierck to Strasbourg, with no other reserves than Bourbaki's Imperial Guards camped around Metz, and a few regiments which the Fourth Corps of Ladmirault might have dispatched in case of necessity from the Valley of the Moselle, which it was appointed to protect.

HOW THE PLAN WORKED.

You know how easily the Prussians broke this thin line, and how the force of the French prepared only for an offensive war, to pass to the defense, with no serious plan formed, with the whole country thrown into a panic, and with one of its bases of operation, Strasbourg, cut away.

I need not dwell on the particular circumstances under which the first battles have been fought. The little that is known about them has already been printed. As to something like a connected exposition of the whole campaign for the first month there is absolutely no material upon which it could be constructed yet. Properly speaking, I am of the opinion there was no campaign until about a week ago, there was only chaotic fighting, in which some 50,000 men on both sides lost their lives, and in consequence of which a considerable portion of the French territory has fallen into the hands of the Prussians. The campaign began when Bazaine took the command of the army on the clearly expressed stipulation that he would take no orders from those about him, and did not wish to know anything about Marshal Leboeuf. What will be the result of this campaign remains to be seen; but I think if we have patience enough to allow Bazaine and McMahon, before we pronounce any judgment, the same amount of time for restoring things which has been allowed for spoiling them, we shall hear of results certainly not anticipated by those who are accustomed to read only very partial judgments expressed by a certain portion of the English press. The chief reason which leads me to this belief is not any particular admiration for the capacities of those Generals, although their talent is a very important point, but a deep conviction based upon data which I have myself collected on the spot. I know positively that the French army is gaining strength every day, that the provision comes in with almost incredible rapidity, that the Prussians, the more they advance, have the greater difficulty in providing for themselves, and finally the panic which spread itself during the first days of ill success has passed over in France. Of this panic, one who has not witnessed it can form no adequate conception. It was not confined only to the civil population of the invaded provinces, but extending throughout almost the whole of the army. So little expected the soldiers to be beaten at the opening of the campaign that no human force could make them listen to the signal for retreat when reverse was at hand, so little did they expect to be short of ammunition that no human force could prevent them from expending the cartridges they had with the utmost lavishness.

DISAFFECTION OF THE SOLDIERS.

And the greater was their assurance of victory the more were they afterwards dispirited when the overwhelming forces of the enemy proved that defeat was possible. The cries which were heard on the battle-field, from the dying as well as from the flying soldiers, against the Generals, had something sinister in them. And it was sufficient that a couple of soldiers who had escaped from Weissenburg, Forbach, or Woerth, should meet a fresh regiment and tell it what was going on in the lines for the murmur of discontent to be extended over troops who had not yet fired a single shot, such troops being harrassed by repeated unnecessary journeys from Chalons to Metz or Nancy and back; journeys which were ordered and countermanded under the influence of the successive defeats, and the absence of any plan had already badly disposed the troops, making them much more impressionable to the unpleasant tales which their defeated comrades had to tell them. Returning to Chalons or to some provincial town these fresh but already infected troops communicated their disposition of mind to the Garde Mobile, whence the discontentment, transforming itself into a panic, spread all over France. But if the soldiers had this real reason for complaint, the civil population had scarcely any, for at the moment they circulated the most absurd stories they had not suffered in any way whatever, had no contributions to pay, and even no soldiers to keep in their houses, as have the population in Germany. The real sufferers, the peasants of the bordering districts, who had then already lost everything, hid themselves and suffered quietly, while the townsfolk of Nancy and kindred places conducted themselves in a way which has constantly caused me to ask where from Erckman-Chatrian took his originals for painting the heroes of Alsace and Lorraine.

THE MORAL STATE OF FRANCE.

Painful, however, as this picture of the moral state of France may seem, I must say that it is an old one. Since the first impressions of the French defeat, everything has changed. The country became accustomed to the idea that its territory was invaded, and a sound courage had quietly taken the place of panic, as previously panic took the place of senseless bravado. There is less singing of the "Marseillaise," less cries of "a Berlin." People begin to understand that their position may be in a few days much better than they would have thought, and than they were told by foreign newspapers. I see that I notice for a second time the unfair treatment to which France is subjected by some of the organs of the English press. I am sorry for having done this, as I think that the persistency with which some contemporaries assure their readers that the position of France is desparate, is the result of a misunderstanding rather than anything else, and perhaps also the reminder of those feelings which have arisen in England consequent on the Belgian question. But even recognizing that there is a partiality in the judgment of those organs, it must not be forgotten that all really useful and good information obtained by the French was got from the English papers. This has been acknowledged even by the French journalists and when I was at Metz I saw how the officers at the headquarters who knew English were anxious to get a sight of the few English newspapers which the correspondents had sent them. The Pall Mall Gazette and the Standard were the only papers received regularly, and both these papers were so worn out within a few hours of their arrival, by passing from hand to hand, as to be almost illegible. It is only when the Etat-Major or Marshal Leboeuf subscribed for three different English journals that we became able to preserve our copies in a more decent state.

THE RIVERSIDE

HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION!

OF

EAST PORTLAND, OREGON,

IS NOW PREPARED TO RECEIVE SUBSCRIPTIONS to their Stock.

Application for ONE HUNDRED SHARES was made before the books were opened, and a large number of Shares have been taken.

The following extracts from the Oregonian and Bulletin will convey a good idea of the plan and workings of the Association, the location of the land, etc., etc.

RIVERSIDE HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION.

This association of whose organization we gave an account a few days since, is now ready to dispose of shares. As it is with one exception, (the Portland Homestead Association,) the pioneer organization of that kind in this city, it may be well enough to state what are its purposes, and the manner in which it is proposed to conduct its operations. The purposes of these Homestead Associations are not at all speculative in the ordinary sense of the word. They are dependent for the profits of their investment upon the natural advance in the value of their lands, consequent upon the co-operation of many individuals—shareholders—and the advance on values of all surrounding lands by reason of the expansion of population and demand for room outside of but still near, the city. The Riverside Homestead Association has a fraction over one hundred and twenty acres of land situated just south of Brooklyn on the east side of the river, the nearest boundary line being about one mile from the ferry landing at East Portland. The tract lies in one strip along the Wallamet river, half a mile in length, and another strip along the Oregon and California railroad, half a mile in length, the two strips being connected near the middle by two rows of blocks (with a street between them,) the whole forming a figure not unlike the letter H. It is divided into 74 blocks, 200 feet square (with streets running at right angles) and 80 fractional lots, along the river front. The shares number 600, worth $60 per share. It will be seen that a share thus represents nearly a lot with an undivided interest in the 80 fractional lots. The 80 fractional shares are to be sold off at the proper time for the benefit of the Association, shareholders coming in for the proceeds in proportion to the number of shares held. When all shares are taken and the Association shall determine to do it, the choice of lots and blocks will be put up at auction to the highest bidder, the proceeds of such sales, after deducting the original price of shares or lots, to be divided equally among the whole number of shares. Thus, if a person wants a particular lot or block, and is willing to pay $100 or $500 premium (more or less as the case may be) he pays it and takes the lot or block as his individual property, the premium being divided among the whole number of shareholders. It will be seen, therefore, that everything is co-operative, and all interests mutual. No man can make a dollar out of it without also making a dollar for every other equal shareholder. There is no chance for loss, unless the property, by some chance, should depreciate far below the first actual cost. Whether this is liable to happen in the case of this particular tract of land must be judged by each for himself, but considering the steady and unprecedented advance on real estate in this city and neighborhood, and at East Portland and vicinity, for the last year or two, it seems hardly possible for values to go back.

In the Riverside Association all proper precautions seem to have been taken to guard against monopolies of shares. No person is allowed to buy more than the number of shares representing three blocks, or twenty-four lots, and votes determining the operations of the Association are restricted in the same manner. The buyers of shares may pay down $60 per share, which will exempt them from all assessments, or they may pay $15 quarterly with an assessment of $3 per share, payable with the first installment, being liable in this latter case to another (and only one other) assessment of $3 per share. Upon the payment of the shares in full, with the assessments as above, the holder is entitled to his certificate and his proportion of all the profits accrued from all sources. No officer of the Association receives any pay for services except the Secretary, who gets $25 per month; so it will be seen that the expenses must be light.

That part of the tract lying along the river is a high plateau, nearly level, about 50 to 90 feet above the water. There is no part of the front row of blocks but commands a splendid view of Portland and the river for miles up and down stream. That part of the tract lying along the railroad is, every foot of it, of the richest loam soil and adapted to gardening purposes. A beautiful little stream of pure water runs through almost the entire length of this wing of the tract, affording the means of irrigation, and power sufficient to supply pure water to every part of the whole tract. There is not a waste lot or fractional lot in the entire tract. Under all these advantages, it would seem impossible that there should be any chance of loss to shareholders. Within a year each shareholder, if he choose, may get a perfect title to as many lots as his shares may represent, or he may continue his interest, undivided, with the Association while the organization may exist.—Oregonian.

THE RIVERSIDE HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION.

We have been led to make these remarks from the fact that the subject of making homesteads on the outskirts of this city and East Portland is being thoroughly discussed here among all classes and one homestead—the "Riverside," just south of East Portland—has already been established. The site selected is a tract of land lying a little over a mile south of the ferry landing. It is shaped like the letter H, one side of which, a half mile in length, borders on the river.

From the portion of the homestead, which is elevated but a trifle above the other prong of the H, but is still forty or fifty feet above the river, can be had an extensive view of Portland, East Portland, the shipping, and the Willamette river for several miles. The land is very fertile, and [illegible] covered with light [illegible] timber. A tract of land just wide enough for two rows of blocks, with an avenue between them, connects the west prong of the H, which has already been described, with that of the east. This last tract of land is in a beautiful little valley which is now in for a high state of cultivation. Through its whole length runs a trout brook the water of which is clear as crystal. With a hydraulic ram the Association proposes to have water conveyed through pipes to every portion of the homestead.—Daily Bulletin.
